Vocational Placement

Study and apply your skills in a real workplace through a Vocational Work Placement Program. Vocational Placement has the advantage of providing knowledge and experience at the same time.

Students who learn through experience in real workplace settings often find it easier to adapt in the workplace environment, increasing the possibility of future employment.

Envirotech students will have the opportunity to develop career ready skills in their chosen industry under real-life workplace conditions. Vocational Placement enables students to interact in a professional setting with colleagues and clients/guest and provide experience in workplace conditions including working with deadlines and collaborating within a professional team.
